

Where does the Anglican Church go from here?

The Anglican Agenda Series aims to open up current questions that call for thought, discussion, prayer and decision at this time among members of the Anglican Church of Canada as well as the wider Anglican Communion. The series is sponsored by Anglican Essentials Canada, which seeks all-round renewal of life and strength in the Anglican Church. Writers are Anglican Church personnel speaking out of their loyalty to the Church and their acute sense of its present needs. It is hoped that this series will spark deep personal reflection and group discussion within and between parishes, so that we all may be better prepared for the difficult and demanding era into which, as it seems, our Church is now entering.
